ST PETERSBURG

Welcome to Belmond Grand Hotel Europe

We've enchanted
Russia's high society for more than a century.
Now, it's your turn.

CHAPTER ONE

Discover St Petersburg

Stroll along canals flowing with history and into a city rich in culture and revolutionary spirit. Russia's imperial capital never ceases to amaze

Legend has it that in 1703, while boating on the River Neva, Peter the Great saw an eagle flying over Zayachy Island. Taking it as an omen, he laid the foundation stone for the Peter and Paul Fortress and what would fulfill his vision of a European city.

In the 300 years since Peter opened the 'window on the west', this Venice of the North has had many faces. A magnificent city reflecting the majesty of the Russian Empire, it became the so-called cradle of the revolution under Lenin. During World War II it was a symbol of national pride. Today, it is Russia's cultural capital, in which awe-inspiring architecture, grand palaces and vast museums reflect the city's unique heritage.

Nestled among the most celebrated landmarks on Nevsky Prospekt, Belmond Grand Hotel Europe serves as a time capsule of Russia's illustrious past and a gateway into St Petersburg's exciting present. Drawing guests from across the world for more than 140 years, we're the first port of call for your Russian adventure. There's treasure around every corner.

“St Petersburg is the city I can never escape because it has a special energy... it keeps pulling me back” – Anna Netrebko

If Walls Could Talk

A cornerstone in St Petersburg's chequered past, Belmond Grand Hotel Europe has a captivating history which stretches over 140 years

All too often hotels are merely a place to rest your head between sightseeing. Once in a rare while, however, they serve as cultural attractions in their own right, as living museums whose walls pulse with the heartbeat of history. When our doors opened in 1875, replacing an earlier inn situated on the same site, the city thrummed with talk of a new, ornate hotel whose restaurant had electric light bulbs – the first in St Petersburg.

But after the October Revolution, the hotel weathered as many changes as the city – now Leningrad – itself. It served as a hospital and orphanage and began to lose its elegance and lustre. It was not until the thawing of the Cold War in 1980 that the 'grand' was put back into Grand Hotel. The resulting renovation revealed a basement full of priceless art once 'liberated' from aristocratic houses, much of which now hangs in the hotel's suites and common spaces.

Our glittering reopening took place in 1991, the same symbolic year that the city re-embraced its original name of St Petersburg. Having survived and thrived for decades, Belmond invites you to join us for the next chapter.

Our Illustrious Guests

Sultans and princesses, icons of the stage and sports legends, our star-studded guests are woven into the fabric of Belmond Grand Hotel Europe

You may recognise our hotel from famous film sets. But long before we hit the silver screen, famous faces have been enjoying Belmond Grand Hotel Europe's distinct brand of luxury. Since our doors opened in 1875, we've welcomed international royalty, actors, presidents and politicians among many. Tchaikovsky honeymooned here. We hosted Cartier's first Russian exhibition. Anna Pavlova enjoyed our hospitality.

Early visitors included the composer Igor Stravinsky and members of the Romanov dynasty. George Bernard Shaw met Maxim Gorky here. Dostoyevsky, who used Nevsky Prospekt as the setting for Crime and Punishment, visited what is now our Historic Floor and observed street life outside. No guest, however, can rival the infamy of Rasputin. From his arrival in St Petersburg in 1905 until his death 11 years later, the Mad Monk attended lavish dinner parties in L'Europe, conducting his business in its alcoves.

Since restoration in the 1990s, our gilt interiors have continued to attract a roll call of world-famous guests including Queen Beatrix and Boris Becker, Nikita Mikhailov and Neil Armstrong, Cindy Crawford and Quincy Jones. Now it's your turn to join their ranks.

CHAPTER TWO

A Warm Welcome

Sparkling chandeliers cast dappled light across a marble floor. Artifacts once admired by Russian Tsars and emperors fill each space with intriguing stories...

Befitting one of Russia's most iconic properties, Belmond Grand Hotel Europe is a treasure trove waiting to be discovered. The splendour is palpable. Our striking facade designed by Carlo Rossi gives way to sumptuous interiors. Soaring ceilings, stained glass, plush fabrics and Art Nouveau flourishes offer the kind of grandeur rarely seen in today's world.

Our 266 rooms and suites transport guests to the bygone age of the Tsars, with rare antique furnishings, restored original features and priceless works of art. Yet while the hotel has one foot rooted in the city's illustrious past, the other strides out into modernity. You'll receive only the warmest Russian hospitality across the hotel, whether in our opulent suites, dining on St Petersburg's finest cuisine or relaxing in our spa. Timeless glamour combines with modern amenities across our iconic rooms. Plush bedrooms peppered with Russian artwork benefit from king-size or twin beds and a seating area, the ideal place to put your feet up before or after exploring the city. Our Deluxe Arts Square View Rooms treat guests to one of St Petersburg's most iconic vistas while the Historic Rooms boast high ceilings and an exclusive butler service.

For those guests wishing to spread out, our spacious suites marry Russian charm with contemporary indulgences such as a television, an iPod dock and WiFi – these are also found throughout our rooms. Generous seating areas lead on to a stylish bedroom with king-size or twin beds and a marble bathroom. Furnished in 19th-century fashion, our Junior Suites overlook Nevsky Prospekt while our decadent One Bedroom Suites offer yet more space to unwind.

Unique Historic Suites

An ode to the city's storied past, our Unique Historic Suites evoke turn-of-the-century Tsarist elegance with plush fabrics, painstakingly restored antiques and picture windows overlooking Arts Square. Yet with all the old-world pomp come contemporary comforts. Individually named and themed, these ten high-ceilinged accommodations feature king-size or twin beds, a kitchenette, a spacious lounge and Italian marble bathrooms with luxury toiletries befitting modern-day emperors.

Tucked in the northern wing on the hotel's Historic Floor, each room breathes life into the heritage and spirit of old St Petersburg. The Lidval Suite pays homage to the great architect who designed our Krysha Ballroom; the Pavarotti Suite commemorates the Italian tenor who stayed here during his 2004 tour of Russia. Named in honor of the Russian dynasty, the Romanov Suite is a grand affair, while a theatrical ambience characterises the Mariinsky Suite. The warm-hued Amber Suite is a nod to its namesake room in Catherine Palace while the Stravinsky Suite takes on greens that echo the composer's 'The Rite of Spring'. The Imperial Yacht Suite is awash with marine; the Fabergé Suite embodies decorative arts; the Rossi Suite – dedicated to the architect of our grand facade – is decorated in his hallmark white and yellow. Should guests staying in the Dostoyevsky Suite be inspired by our literary guest, a large writing desk is the ideal spot to pen your tales of Belmond Grand Hotel Europe.

Avant-Garde Suites

Inspired by boundary-pushing Russian art of the 20th century, our five Avant-Garde Suites offer both style and luxury at the heart of the city. Named after great artists of the period, each spacious suite has been carefully crafted to reflect its namesake artist and features specially commissioned artwork that echoes their style. Geometric shapes and bold colours define the Malevich Suite, while the atmospheric Archipenko Suite sets the mood with warm tones and sensual lines. The Rodchenko Suite transforms bold shapes and light while the Lissitzky Suite creates a modern ambience with graphic lines and clean colours. The playful Kandinsky Suite pays homage to the father of abstract art. Each Avant-Garde Suite features a living room with a dining table that seats four to ten people as well as a marble bathroom with bath and shower. Dress to the nines in your private boudoir with dressing table or dim the atmospheric lights and recline on plush furniture as you enjoy widescreen television. Should you need, a 24 hour butler service is on hand. As sun sets, slip into your king-size bed – and rest assured, these dazzling suites are not just a dream.

Presidential Suite

Ahead of its 140th anniversary, Belmond Grand Hotel Europe unveiled the Presidential Suite, the largest, most impressive accommodation in all St Petersburg. This opulent two-bedroom suite is set over 350m² in a covetable corner of our hotel. Upon entry, a resplendent domed, gold-leaf ceiling enchants while windows offer unparalleled views of Nevsky Prospekt through the picture windows ahead. Each bedroom benefits from king-size beds, two marble bathrooms and a sauna, the perfect place to unwind. A combined study and library includes a secret bookcase door leading to the main bedroom. Work up a sweat in the personal fitness centre, complete with treadmill and cycling machine. Privately cooked meals are available in the dining room, which seats up to ten guests and is ideal for exclusive dinner parties. As night draws in, retire to the games room or music room, complete with an antique Carl Schroeder grand piano – a butler service is on hand night and day. Make a toast to the spirit of Russia in your private lounge bar as you gaze out over twinkling city lights. This is luxury, defined.

L'Europe

Art Nouveau splendour meets decadent dining at Russia's oldest continually serving restaurant, a culinary hotspot brimming with timeless elegance

It's fitting that a stained-glass window depicting Apollo, the Greek god of the sun and art, dominates this grand dining room. Aureate streams of light beckon travellers into this world-renowned venue, where Art Nouveau elegance meets award-winning artisanal fare. Carved wooden balconies and private alcoves lend an air of intimacy to the majestic space.

When L'Europe opened in 1905, St Petersburg was abuzz with talk of the magnificent new dining room boasting the city's first electric light bulbs. Today, it remains at the heart of St Petersburg's social scene. Lavish dinners have been enjoyed here by Queen Elizabeth II, Igor Stravinsky and Jimmy Carter. Elton John held an impromptu concert on its stage in 1979. Now it's your turn to join the fun.

Breakfast to the sound of live piano music. On Friday, candlelit dinners coincide with live ballet as part of the much-loved Tchaikovsky Nights. Come Sunday, free-flowing champagne and caviar attract Russia's great and good to L'Europe's legendary brunch in which a multinational buffet stretches over 30 metres and lasts long into the afternoon.

Caviar Bar & Restaurant

Indulge at the city's only dedicated caviar bar where the charm and opulence of 19th-century Russia meets contemporary luxury

Nothing says Russian decadence quite like beluga caviar-topped blinis partnered with a crisp, ice-cold vodka – and there's no better place in the world to enjoy this delicacy than Belmond Grand Hotel Europe's celebrated Caviar Bar & Restaurant.

Designed in the late 1800s, our restaurant is a protected historical monument. Marble columns, gilded crayfish, stuccoed centaurs and a gargoyle fountain adorn the room. Such Neo-Classical majesty sets the stage for our decadent caviar assortment which spans 15 varieties. Meanwhile the Egg in Egg – our signature dish of truffled scrambled egg topped with beluga, osetra and salmon caviar served in egg shells – regularly steals the spotlight.

Enjoy your dish in traditional Russian style with vodka. The country's only full-time vodka sommelier will guide you through 35 varieties, 15 distillates and a selection of home-infused liqueurs including a Far Eastern-inspired hangover cure. Alternatively, relish the taste sensation of caviar with a glass of bubbles. A list of 12 exclusive luxury champagnes will satisfy even the most discerning of palates.

AZIA

A world of delicately balanced spices, intense flavours and tempting aromas, AZIA delivers pan-Asian cuisine with modern panache

Belmond Grand Hotel Europe's freshest culinary attraction takes its cue from the Far East. A backdrop of warm woods, sleek reclaimed metal, colourful spice jars and handmade brick tiles set the scene for a fusion menu that puts a creative, contemporary twist on classic Asian gastronomy.

Dishes of crisp tempura, delicate rice paper rolls and tender tikka spirit diners to the Orient. Savour Indian marinades, homemade breads and fresh wasabi or try sushi at our dedicated bar made of glistening Aji stone. A Tokyo-inspired cocktail makes a refreshing partner, as does our globe-spanning wine list and innovative tea-pairing. Adventurous guests may wish to try the daily Emotions Tasting Menu which takes you on an epicurean journey across a landscape of salty, spicy, sour and sweet flavours. Textures surprise, colours delight and aromas tantalise.

Should you like to unleash your culinary flair, our chef de cuisine serves up the secrets of Asian fare with a lively cookery course. Master tandoor, steam and wok techniques before feasting on your very own creations. Preeyatnava apetita!

Lobby Bar & Mezzanine Café

With Belmond Grand Hotel Europe, there's always more to savour. These are the places to see and be seen over pastries and signature cocktails

Light streams in through a glass roof to our airy Mezzanine Café. Here, surrounded by a charming indoor terrace garden, St Petersburg's finest pastries and sweets are served daily. Stop by for elevenses or indulge in afternoon tea fit for a Russian Tsar with caviar-topped blinis and miniature pirozhki served on the country's finest porcelain tea set.

Open 24 hours a day, the hotel's enchanting Lobby Bar draws distinguished guests and the city's most glamorous names well into the small hours. Live jazz and blues music dances among the hubbub of stories shared and secrets spilled. Gaze around at the stucco cornices, green-tiled fireplaces, marble floors and bronze statues, and you'll soon appreciate why this elegant Art Nouveau space is a protected historical and cultural landmark.

Enjoy light bites, take advantage of the generously stocked humidor or try a warm cocktail; they're a speciality in the Lobby Bar and a perfect foil for St Petersburg's long, cold winters. Our signature libations include the Mayakovsky, a heady mix of pepper-infused vodka, passionfruit, orange and lime, and the Seventh Symphony, which blends armagnac, Grand Marnier and bitters.

The balconies of L'Europe restaurant were once a favourite haunt of Rasputin and his friends. The pattern of their fabric-covered walls is embossed on this booklet's covers in homage to the many stories played out in these discreet alcoves since the restaurant opened in 1905. The design is picked out in another of the hotel's Art Nouveau features: the green of the tiled fireplace in the Lobby Bar.
